Suppose It Were Hostile
What Lincoln Said
Lowden on Hoover
Samuel Insull's Farms

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

AN amphibian plane, catapulted from the French liner Ile de France, 450 miles out, reached New York with mail FIFTEEN DAYS BEFORE THE SHIP GOT THERE.

It is important as regards mail service. . . .
The million times more important from the point of view of national defense.

Suppose a foreign ship or fleet of submarines, 450 miles out, should drop from their decks two or three amphibious planes, carrying explosive bombs, poison gases, and send them to New York or to San Francisco or to Los Angeles. What effect would it have on the country?

The single plane like the one sent from the Ile de France to Washington, D. C., could destroy the White House, the Capitol and fly back to the "mother ship." That ought to interest our government.

When bankers from New York told President Lincoln how much money they had at stake and demanded a loan in New York harbor to protect New York's treasure, President Lincoln said to them: "If I had as much money as you say you have, I'd build a ship as my own expense."

As this government finds it impossible to wake up, it might pay bankers and property owners of New York and other big cities to think about air protection to their property.

Governor Lowden, a real farmer, "is much impressed by Hoover's speech" and "this frank recognition of the agricultural problem as the most urgent economic problem in the nation today." Governor Lowden, a real farmer, on a big scale, and devoted much of his life to studying the farm problem. His approval of Hoover's speech, will mean much to farmers.

SAMUEL INSULL is two kinds of farmer. He raises queer yellow beans that nobody will buy, north of Ohio, and on his real farm, the business of the United States, he has many millions of dollars, extending his farming from ocean to ocean.

It has done a useful thing in establishing a model "electric farm" for farmers that they can save money by using "help" by using electrical appliances, pushing a button or turning a lever, instead of "breaking" their backs.

EVERY farm should have electric power, at little cost, and would be if the people had brains enough to control their own power supplies. However, since they haven't brains enough, they should be thankful for the like Insull and others that supply brains for a consideration.

IMAGINE the feelings of the Rev. Dr. Stratton, head of a great Baptist church in New York City. While he was busy attacking Governor Smith and other things, some one in the grass discovered a "speakeasy" in a hotel at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., owned by the Rev. Dr. Stratton.

DR. STRATTON, who had just taken to the hotel, was planning to make it a fine religious center for the summer. He had a Christian Assembly, summer music festival, Bible conference, school camp-meetings, etc. He was a reporter with a bottle of Turn to Page 8.

PRISONER KILLED
Not as He Tried to Break Free from Detective

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Escaped from a police station by sawing through one of the bars of a window in his cell, Hans Pate, 35, was shot and killed today when he tried to break free from a detective bureau squad that captured him.

The shooting occurred in front of the home where Pate's wife has been living since her arrest on Aug. 5. He was charged with 58 burglaries, all of which he said he had confessed.

Pate was held to the grand jury room by Judge Immanuel, who fixed bonds at $50,000.

175 FINED AS TRAFFIC COURT HEARINGS OPEN

25 PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Cases Set for Aug. 20: Warrants To Be Issued for 50 Who Failed To Appear

The cash drawer at the Marion municipal court was $175 heavier this afternoon with fines paid by violators of the stop street ordinance who entered pleas of guilty when arraigned before Judge W. R. Martin, this morning.

Each of the 175 motorists pleading guilty to the charge was fined $1 by Judge Martin. The cases of approximately 25 other alleged violators were continued until Aug. 20 by Judge Martin when they pleaded not guilty to the charge of not observing the stop street ordinance.

Warrants for about 50 more violators who were scheduled to appear at the municipal court this morning will be made out and served within the next few days, according to Clerk John H. Powell. The fines of the violators brought into court by local police on warrants will probably be $3 each, Judge Martin said today.

Hearings for the large group of Marion motorists who received notices to appear in court today on the charge of failing to stop at one of the various street intersections when police began a campaign to enforce the ordinance, last week, started at 8:30 o'clock. Between 40 and 50 faced Judge Martin every half hour during the morning.

The hearing for the last of the group was completed at 11:30 o'clock. Only residents of the city were brought up before the court on the charge this morning. Details of the Turn to Page 5.

FACTORY EMPLOYEES OVERCOME BY HEAT

Floyd Bessinger Prostrated While Working at Pollak Steel Plant

One heat prostration occurred here yesterday when the mercury soared to a high of 90 degrees, a marked rise in the temperature over the preceding day, when an official 82-degree high was recorded.

Marion's most recent heat victim was Floyd Bessinger, 34, who succumbed to the heat while working on the hotbed at the Pollak Steel Co. about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bessinger was removed to City hospital in the W. C. Boyd ambulance, but was discharged almost at once. Although his condition was improved today, he was unable to return to work.

Increasing cloudiness, followed by showers tonight or Thursday, is the weather forecast. Although the mercury had reached 84 degrees at noon today, a drop in the temperature is expected with the rains later today or Thursday.

The temperature a year ago remained at the 80-degree mark for nearly a week. An 80-degree high was recorded Aug. 14, 1927 and a 55-degree low. Last night the mercury dropped to the 55 mark.

PAIR KIDNAPED AND $10,000 GEMS TAKEN

Men Found Bound and Gagged in Taxi Near Chicago Suburb

Chicago, Aug. 15.—A long distance kidnapping and robbery episode, which netted the perpetrators $100,000 in uncut gems, terminated in Wheaton, Ill., West Chicago suburb, early today.

The two victims, Morris Keen, a New York jewelry salesman, and Elmer Kibett, taxicab driver, were found at dawn on the outskirts of Wheaton by Joseph Meyer, a farmer. The men were in an automobile, bound hand and foot, handcuffed and blindfolded.

They told police they had been kidnapped in Omaha, Neb., late yesterday, and had been on the road, as helpless captives, all night.

CEDAR RAPIDS MAKES HOOPER VISIT PLANS

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 15.—Plans were completed here today for the reception of Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee for president, next Wednesday and Thursday when 30,000 persons are expected. The major part of the nominee's time will be devoted to receiving farm delegations and discussing their problems.

On Tuesday, shortly after his arrival, Mr. Hoover will receive a delegation of Iowa farmers and give them an hour and a half to present their side of the troublesome question.

Total of Over 9,100 Establishes New Record, Officials State

LIVELY CONTESTS

Warm Competition Develops in Count for Several County Offices

Marion county voters turned out for the primaries yesterday in numbers almost equalling those of a general election. According to officials of the Marion county election board the vote was the largest in the history of Marion county primaries.

Having an estimate on the number of votes cast for gubernatorial candidates, 9,180 persons visited the polls. Republicans led Democrats about two and a half to one. Republican gubernatorial candidates received a total of 6,312 votes. Democratic candidates for governor received 2,874 votes.

For Ahead of 1926

The vote yesterday was slightly more than twice the 1926 primary vote. The total vote two years ago was 4,579. With the exception of an increase of 703 in the number of Democratic voters this year, the jump in the poll was due entirely to the fact that the number of Republican voters more than doubled this year.

In 1926, 2,109 Democrats visited the polls. This year there were 2,874. Two years ago 2,410 Republicans voted.

SEE TOTALS OF VOTE IN COUNTY

A summary of results in the various primary contests in Marion county, showing the cast in both city and rural precincts, appears on page 11.

Some Surprises

Pre-primary predictions were upset to a certain extent when the Republican race for nomination to the office of probate judge failed to develop into the close contest that had been predicted. Oscar Galt led his nearest opponent, Judge Louis H. Neal, by a plurality of 501.

Another result of the primary that came as a surprise to many was the defeat of O. J. Hord in the Republican contest for county commissioner, short term. Hord was defeated by 378 votes. McCurdy by 378 votes. Hord has served on the board of commissioners since last fall when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of J. N. Keckroth.

A rally in the county precincts saved O. W. Kinsman, present chairman of the board of county commissioners from defeat. G. W. Hinson led Kinsman by a slight margin in the city but a good country vote gave the latter a lead of about 400.

The unofficial count of election returns revealed several close contests in both Democratic and Republican parties so far as county officers are concerned.

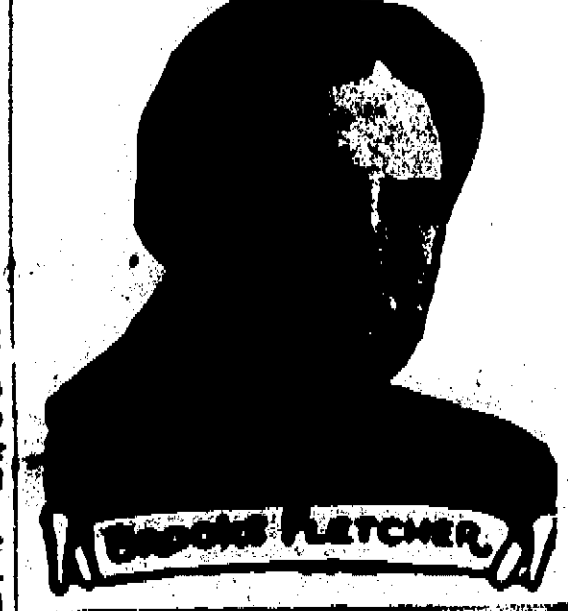

Only 14 votes separated low and high candidates in the Democratic race for nomination for county commissioner.

MAY PLACE MARION ON AIRSHIP'S ROUTE

Plans Launched To Have Dirigible "Puritan" Stop Here

Probability that the first dirigible airship ever to stop in Marion will be here during the latter part of August or early in September was indicated today in information coming from local representatives of the Goodyear Rubber Co. of Akron.

The new Goodyear dirigible, "Puritan," which is to be at the state fair, Aug. 27 to Sept. 4, is likely to stop in Marion on its way either to or from the fair, according to plans now under way. It is proposed to have the dirigible stop here in connection with promotion of the local airport project.

Plans for the dirigible's visit were inaugurated yesterday following the visit here of A. W. Wilson, of Columbus, district sales manager of the Goodyear Co. He proposed having Marion scheduled on the Puritan's route and suggested that H. R. Mapes, local Goodyear agent, try to complete arrangements.

Mr. Mapes wired the Goodyear Co. today and G. C. Whysall, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Marion, sent a letter to the company requesting that arrangements be made to have the dirigible stop here. An answer is expected within a few days.

The Puritan, one of the latest type airships, is 128 feet in length and has a carrying capacity of three passengers in addition to the pilot.

BULLETIN

Columbus, Aug. 15.—The race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the Ohio primary election became a race on between Myers V. Cooper, (Cincinnati), and James T. Hegg, (Sandusky), late this afternoon as returns from all but a few precincts were received.

On the strength of private advice, Cooper's headquarters issued a statement claiming that with all but 176 of the state's 8723 precincts tabulated their candidate was leading by 3,700 votes.

Hegg had been leading Cooper by several thousand votes since early this morning but the Cincinnati had been gradually working down the lead as returns rolled in.

Columbus, Aug. 15.—Congressman James T. Hegg, Sandusky, was leading Myers V. Cooper, Cincinnati, this afternoon for the Republican gubernatorial nomination by 9,709 votes, according to unofficial returns tabulated at the office of Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown.

Returns from 7,527 of Ohio's approximately 8,745 precincts gave Hegg, 224,000; Cooper, 217,216; Turner, 79,220.

An earlier tabulation had given Hegg a lead of about 15,000 votes over Cooper, but belated returns reduced Hegg's plurality materially.

While estimating that from available figures Hegg may have a lead of between 9,000 and 4,000 votes when the returns are complete, Secretary of State Brown stood pat this afternoon on his belief that it may require the official count to determine whether Hegg or Cooper is the O. E. gubernatorial nominee.

If this proves to be the case, it will be a couple of days at least before Ohio Republicans will know who they have selected as their choice for governor.

Marysville, Aug. 15.—Republicans outnumbered Democrats by a good margin in the various voting throughout the city and county in the primary election here yesterday. CONTESTS KEEN IN PRIMARY ELECTION

Balloting Nears Record Mark as Hardin County Voters Flock to Polls

ELECTION TALK QUIET

Interest in County Centers in Close Race for Prosecutor

Kenton, Aug. 15.—Contests on both major party tickets in the county combined with fair weather resulted in an unusually heavy vote being cast in the primary election Tuesday in Kenton and Hardin counties.

Although the balloting was near a record mark the election otherwise was quiet, chief interest centering in the close race between Michael B. Underwood and Arthur A. Tudor, both of Kenton, for the office of prosecutor, and LeRoy Latham, Forest, and Carl D. Richards, farmer, for treasurer, on the Republican ticket.

On the basis of complete unofficial returns from 67 precincts in the county Underwood led Tudor by a small margin of 41 votes while Latham was nominated by 35.

In the lone race on the county Democratic ticket, Russell L. Harvey, Ada, beat Robert C. Sheldon, Dunkirk, by 240 ballots for the surveyor nomination.

F. U. Jones, Kenton, won the three-cornered race for nomination as Republican candidate for probate judge, polling 1,601 votes as compared with 1,128 for J. H. Cosma, Kenton, and Millard F. Timmons, farmer, with 459.

Three-Cornered Battle

A second three-cornered battle was that waged by C. R. Runser, Ada, Adam H. Hight and Elmer E. Starner, both farmers, for the nomination of representative to the general assembly. Runser's unofficial total was 1,541; Hight's 712 and Starner's 561.

Morton Anley, Kenton, former Hardin county commissioner, was nominated as sheriff on the Republican side with W. P. Smith of Roundhead, finishing second.

The city and county gave comfortable pluralities for Cooper and Dyer in the gubernatorial races while Carington T. Marshall, Trux and Locher held a wide margin in the senatorial balloting. The county also boosted the majority of Grant P. Mouser, Jr. in the district race.

Total unofficial vote cast in Hardin county for state, district and county candidates follows: Republican: governor—Fred Kohler, 35; Harry A. Stanley, 61; Harry C. Smith, 40; Edward C. Turner, 308; James T. Degg, 1104; Myers V. Cooper 1508; Lieut. unexpired term, full term, —Charles L. Young, 230; George Braden, 643; John T. Brown, 728; Albert E. Heavy Voting Closing one of the warmest political campaigns in the history of Wyandot county, voters streamed to the polls in heavy numbers, Tuesday. Heavily contested offices were on the ticket and no interference on the part of the weather, voters were eager to make selections for their party candidates for the November election. Democrats outnumbered Republicans in vote casting by a large margin.

Conspicuous on the Democratic county ticket were four contested offices, the highest number in years while the Republican ticket put forth what is believed to be the greatest number of aspirants for county offices in the party's history. Four offices on the latter ticket were uncontested with but two unopposed on the Democratic side. For county offices Ulrich will be the Democratic candidate for clerk of court of common pleas over Ritterspach who was running for his third term. Frey and Murray, both running for second term in the commissioners office will compete with the voters in November. Nevels, Hehr, and Greger all of this city are running for first term and S. H. Krebs, of Carey, first term as sheriff. On the Republican side Stansbury was uncontested in his run for second term as sheriff. Falor and Quail are slated for county commissioner and Krebs for treasurer. Fox is running for his second term as surveyor, Walton, his second term as prosecuting attorney and Nais as corner. No candidate for coroner was offered on the Democratic ticket, the number written in failing to reach the required number to place a name thereon.

Derry Is High

Martin Dyer received the greater number of votes in the county for governor on the Democratic ticket with Earl D. Bloom running a close second. George Myers received several hundred more than Pickrel for lieutenant-governor and Smith outweighed Newman for secretary of state. Butler for secretary of state, Bushnell, treasurer and Trux in the senatorial race received Wyandot county support. Locher polled twice as many votes here as Hunt and Monnett outdistanced Dunlavy. Young ran a higher vote than Markley for state senator and Kurtis half a hundred more than Weiker, who is a Wyandot County man.

Begg ran slightly ahead of Cooper on the county Republican ticket with Brown holding a slight number over the other candidates for lieutenant governor. Reed received the greatest number on the unexpired term for this office. Boyd for attorney general, Burton for United States senator and Day for judge of the supreme court were in the support of Wyandot county Republicans at the November election. Guernsey received a large plurality and Guernsey for judge of the court of appeals. Warner outran Ratcliffe and Gertrude Jones far outclassed her opponent Heischman for woman state committeeman.

MRS. KEARNS ILL

Manager's Wife Believed Poisoned By Something She Ate

Long Beach, N. Y., Aug. 15—Believed to have been poisoned by something she had eaten, Mrs. Legana Kearns, wife of Jack Kearns, was said to be in a critical condition at Long Beach hospital today.

The stricken wife of the fight manager asked to see Jack Dempsey, who won the heavyweight championship under the management of Kearns. Physicians attending her, however, informed Dempsey, in New York, that no one would be admitted to the sick room. Dempsey then ordered one of his representatives to go to the hospital to see that everything possible be done to make her comfortable.

The former heavyweight champion knew Mrs. Kearns when both were in vaudeville and has remained on friendly terms with her despite his break with her husband.

When anyone is beset to make a noise, why does he go out in the public streets which belong to other people as well as him, to do it?

LOST AT SEA, FEAR

Gene Austin, Radio Singer, in Storm
ON N. C. Coast

New York, Aug. 15—Gene Austin, popular radio singer and balladist, millions of photographs, owners throughout the world, is believed to have been lost at sea off the coast of North Carolina during the recent tropical storm along the east coast. With Austin were his wife and three other persons, who also are feared lost.

Austin was cruising in his yacht, Blue Heaven, off the southern coast of the United States when he is believed to have been caught in the hurricane. This became known when Austin's friend of Atlantic Beach, N. C., a friend of Austin's, wired the latter's New York office asking if anything had been heard from Austin since the storm abated.

SHOWS 101 RANCH HOW TO RIDE 'EM

They call her "Young Ma Fiddling" after the shrewd and philosophical heroine of the Harry Leon Wilson Red Gap stories, but she's the belle of the high school horse equine world with "Mother" and "Brother" 101 Ranch Wild West, coming to Marion, Friday, August 23, and show the country's and country's biggest show, the single cowboy riding one day, she up and showed 'em. She rode the sweetest bucking horse in the big show, and she rode it "pretty." Now, the wildest of the buckaroo, the ten, hats in hand, when "Ma" spins this or that about riding. She "rides hard," too, on really some hundred and fifty girls—some women taking part in the many operations with the big set show, cowgirls and the single cowboy riders of foreign lands. They call her "mother," too, so that's how much they think of her.

SMITH REPORTED TO HAVE SPEECH READY

Democratic Nominee Said To Be Making Himself Clear
on Issues

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15—After two weeks of almost steady work Gov. Al Smith today had completed the address he will deliver a week from tonight on the east steps of the state capitol in formally accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

Although he has had much experience in writing public documents during the eight years he has been chief executive of New York, the governor, according to his confidants, has found that the preparation of a presidential campaign message is far different than that of a message to the state legislature.

In his usual manner, Smith has made his position perfectly clear on every national issue, including prohibition, farm relief, foreign affairs and even the tariff, his close friends declare.

The governor went to some length in writing his acceptance speech, it was learned on good authority, to serve notice on the big business of the country that, in the event of his election, he had no intention of tinkering with the tariff. It was said he would further emphasize this point in some of the speeches he will make during his campaign.

As he often has done on previous occasions, Smith is understood to have struck out bluntly and boldly at prohibition. He is said to have made it plain that he has never urged the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, but that he does believe the Volstead law should be modified in the interest of temperance.

can't buy better heat

Constant circulation of moist, warm air—nature's plan—provides the best heat money can buy. This is the Holland Vaporizer principle. Heating response is quick and positive. Warmth is distributed in measured volumes to every room. Uniform temperature and proper humidity are maintained constantly and automatically. Floors are warm and draft-free. The air—always in motion—comes with energy. Lifeless air in the average home—drier than desert air—is a prevalent cause of discomfort and ill-health. A Holland costs no more than ordinary heating plants.

For large homes the Deluxe System, combining advantages of heating-cooling installations used in modern theaters, schools and hospitals, provides year around comfort. For every home, large or small, costly or modest, there's a Holland that guarantees comfort, cleanliness, convenience and economy, requires only two firings daily and uses from 10% to 35% less fuel—which practically pays for the system. Order now and secure installation before the first chilly day. Purchase may be made on deferred payments. Get the facts and you'll get a Holland.

With only two votes in the field, the Democratic vote for nomination to the office of judge for a time threatened to be lost. The candidates were run-off as early as possible. Pre-Primary Predictions in This County Fulfilled as Voters Cast Ballots

Only One Prophecy Fails and That Is in Case of White, Defeated by Truax; Begg Given Lead of 965 Votes Over Cooper Here

Pre-primary predictions as to the candidates for United States senator and governor that Marion county would support at the primaries were fulfilled in all but one case yesterday. Republican leaders predicted that James T. Begg, gubernatorial candidate, would carry the county. He received 965 votes more than his nearest opponent, Myers Y. Cooper. Theodore B. Burton was predicted to win over Cardington T. Marshall for the unexpired senatorial term. Burton led Marshall by 1,704 votes.

Only one prophecy of Democratic leaders was not fulfilled by voters at the polls yesterday. George White was predicted to be the favorite over Charles V. Truax in the Democratic race for the long term senatorial post. White, however, ran a poor second to Truax, it was revealed when the final count was made.

Cyrus Locher lived up to expectations in defeating Graham P. Hunt for the unexpired senatorial post. Locher carried the county with a majority of nearly 600.

In polling almost twice as many votes as his nearest opponent, Martin L. Davey easily carried the county in the Democratic gubernatorial campaign. Earl D. Bloom ran 672 votes behind Davey, taking a poor second place.

The Democratic auditor's race and the Republican contest for lieutenant governor, full term, were the only state offices to run close here.

Lester C. Riddle carried the county in the Democratic contest for auditor of state. He defeated Daniel E. Butler by 109 votes. J. H. Kaufman took third place by trailing Butler by 125 votes.

Day's Saline Key
Although George C. Braden, Republican, carried the county by a wide majority in the race for lieutenant governor short term, he was defeated by John T. Brown by 137 votes in the contest for lieutenant governor, long term.

Clinton D. Boyd carried a large majority of the precincts of the county in the contest for attorney general on the Republican ticket. He carried the county with a plurality of nearly 600.

W. J. DENNIG, 61, DIES AT COLUMBUS
Gallion Man To Be Buried Thursday Afternoon in Fairview Cemetery

Gallion, Aug. 15.—The Rev. Joseph Lamy of the Market Street Methodist church will officiate at funeral services for William J. Dennig, 61, which will be held from the home 408 Harding Way West Thursday afternoon. Burial services will follow at Fairview cemetery. Mr. Dennig died at Grant hospital, Columbus, where he had gone for treatment and observation, having been in ill health for several years. He was formerly a local business man having owned and managed a grocery store here for many years, retiring several years ago because of his health. Since that time he has been operating a small retail store South Market st., and was at work there until a week before his death.

Mr. Dennig is survived by his widow, formerly Nettie Gugler of this city, a sister Mrs. S. J. Gommel, Cleveland, and a brother, Carl Dennig, Akron. He was born in Marion county and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher W. Dennig. He was a charter member of the Commercial club of Gallion and was an active member of the Market Street Methodist church.

BEGG AND DAVEY LEAD CONTESTS

Official Count May Be Needed To Determine Republican Nominee

Considerable part to come from territory believed to have supported Cooper. It is upon this situation that election authorities based their expectation that Begg's lead will be further reduced.

With no returns available from Ottawa or Washington counties, incomplete unofficial returns to the secretary of state's office indicated that Begg carried 21 of Ohio's counties. Turner carried one, and Cooper carried the remaining 64.

Turner carried Franklin county. Begg was believed to have carried Belmont, Carroll, Crawford, Cuyahoga, Deane, Delaware, Erie, Hancock, Henry, Huron, Lawrence, Lorain, Lucas, Marion, Medina, Monroe, Morrow, Paulding, Pike, Putnam, Richland, Ross, Sandusky, Scioto, Seneca, Stark, Summit, Trumbull, Tuscarawas, Wood and Wyandot counties.

In his unsuccessful contest with Davey for the Democratic nomination for governor, Bloom carried only six counties—Brown, Crawford, Hancock, Putnam, Wood and Wyandot—it was indicated by the returns received by the secretary of state.

That not less than 750,000 Ohio voters participated in yesterday's primary election was indicated this afternoon by available unofficial returns. Figures relating to the votes cast for the gubernatorial candidates indicated that more than 3,000 over Stanley Chertown in the Republican state auditor race.

Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, appeared to have won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Unofficial figures at the secretary of state's office indicated that Davey led a lead of 34,168 over Commerce Director Earl D. Bloom, 23,475.

Peter Witt, Cleveland, was running about 6,000 votes behind Bloom in the Democratic gubernatorial race.

Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland, appeared to have won the Republican nomination for the short term as U. S. senator. Available figures give Attorney Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati, the Democratic nomination, over U. S. Senator Cyrus Locher, Cleveland, for the U. S. senatorial term, short term. Charles V. Truax, Bucyrus, it seems, won the Democratic nomination for the long term as U. S. senator, with George White, Marietta, running second.

Bettman Leads Bricker
Gilbert Bettman, Cincinnati, with a lead of 7,695 over John W. Bricker, Columbus, seemed to have captured the Republican nomination for attorney general.

Unofficial figures from 6,091 precincts gave: Bettman, 14,673; Bricker, 6,384.

While State Representative John T. Brown has apparently been nominated by the Republicans for the full term as lieutenant governor, George C. Braden, Warren, on the basis of available returns is the Republican nominee for the unexpired term as lieutenant governor, to serve from a date shortly after the November election until early in January when the candidate elected for the full term will assume the duties of that office.

County Nominees Picked
There was no candidate on the Democratic primary ballot for the short term as lieutenant governor.

Nominations were made also at yesterday's primary election of candidates for congress, state senate, Ohio house of representatives, judges of appellate, common pleas and probate courts, sheriff, county commissioner, county treasurer, county surveyor, prosecuting attorney and coroner in the 88 counties of the state.

Members of Republican and Democratic state and county central committees, also, were elected yesterday.

Returns showing the votes cast for these candidates were not available at the secretary of state's office.

Begg, accompanied by friends, left his headquarters about 4 o'clock this morning and went to the offices of the secretary of state where he studied the returns and tabulation sheets. Cooper, it was stated at his headquarters, had returned to his room and gone to sleep.

The aged man sustained two broken ribs and injuries about the lower part of his body. Both legs have been in a paralyzed condition. Mr. Andes was removed to the hospital from his home last night in the W. C. Boyd invalid car. He underwent an X-ray examination to determine the extent of his injuries this morning. LIGHT VOTE CAST BY GALION CITIZENS

Interest Centers in Contestants for County Offices; Officials Still Working Gallion, Aug. 15.—Although a comparatively light vote was cast in Gallion yesterday more than usual interest for a primary election was shown. At an early hour this morning official totals of the votes for various candidates were not completed and members of the local board were still at work with the county committee members at Bucyrus tabulating the vote.

Interest here was centered in the voting for county officers. A. A. Scott, Democratic candidate for sheriff, was reported as leading over Kaler and Judd with a total of 605 votes. Kaler had 204 and Judd 121. The Republican candidate, George Davenport, had no opponent.

Arden Wisman was leading Miller for judge of probate court, by 153 votes and on the Republican ticket W. L. Monnett was not opposed. For representative to general assembly on the Democratic ticket Kebrer was leading Flickinger by a narrow margin and McNeal was drawing more votes on the same ticket for county surveyor than F. L. Niederheiser.

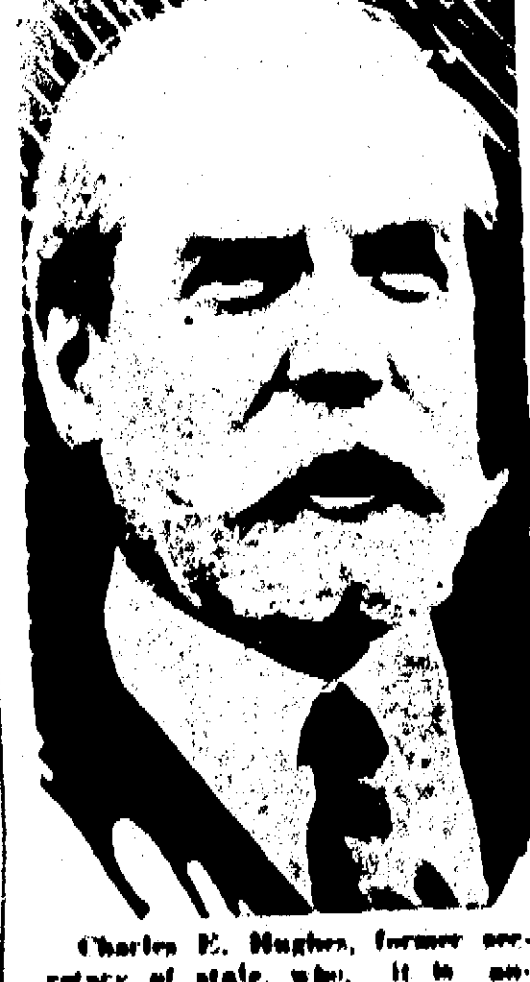

BELGIAN WORKMEN GET LOWEST EUROPEAN WAGES

Brussels—The Belgian workman receives the lowest wages of any in Europe, according to statistics recently published by a Social Service publication.

The masons get from 11 to 12 cents per hour; smiths, electricians and mechanics a cent or two more; one-fourth of the pay in France, and conductors an average of 13 cents. Skilled workmen in lift industries earn the same amount.

The women are even less paid than the men, receiving no more than seven cents as a maximum. The eight-hour law is strictly applied.

ELEVATOR DROPS

Seven Democratic Leaders Died Thrill and Narrow Escape

New York, Aug. 15.—Seven of the most important members of Governor Smith's campaign advisory cabinet are congratulating themselves today on narrowly escaping death or possible injury in the fall of an elevator last night at the Savoy Plaza.

The group, among them National Democratic Chairman John J. Haskob, had a moment of panic when the elevator, going out of control above the 23rd floor, fell and dropped to a point between the 21st and 22nd floors before it could be halted.

For 30 minutes they and other occupants were imprisoned before elevator experts could effect their release.

SOUTH TAKES STEPS TO COMBAT FLOODS

Second Tropical Disturbance Felt North as Far as Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 15.—The south today surveyed the damage and took measures to combat the floods resulting from the torrential rains that accompanied the storms of the last few days.

From Macon, Ga., south to Okeechobee, Fla., on both sides of the coast, creeks and rivers were swollen to near flood stage. Many roads were impassable, with highways inundated and littered with fallen trees and wires.

The fall-end of the second tropical disturbance which swept up the Florida west coast Tuesday night, felt as far north as Atlanta, which experienced a sharp drop in temperature and a terrific downpour. It still was raining here today.

The Ocmulgee, Oconee, Altamaha and Flint rivers in South Georgia were reported rising steadily today, owing to heavy rains on the water shed above Macon. All of the tributaries and creeks pouring into these rivers were out of their banks.

Many automobile tourists are marooned in Macon because highways leading to Savannah, Augusta and Athens are impassable.

The tests have been delayed by numerous difficulties. Dr. Hugo Eckener of the Zeppelin works and builder of the dirigible, has been ill and is going to Switzerland for a two weeks' holiday.

Democratic Leaders Gratified At Nomination Of Hunt

CINCINNATI SEEN AS MODIFICATIONIST

Also Described as 100 Per Cent Smith Man by Headquarters

LOCHER IS DEFEATED

Enlistment of Hirth in Farm Forces Lineup Is Announced

New York, Aug. 13—Democratic leaders were gratified today by the apparent victory of Graham P. Hunt of Cincinnati in the Ohio Democratic primary. Hunt, an avowed modificationist, was described as a 100 per cent Smith man by the Democratic nomination committee. The Democratic nomination for United States senator, to be vacated by the death of Frank R. Willis, Republican. His victory over Senator Cyrus Locher, Democrat, was a significant blow to the Locher faction. Locher was supported by the American Legion in the state of Ohio.

its founding and national headquarters. "This primary is but another indication of the dissatisfaction of the American people with the present prohibition regime," said Chairman John J. Haskob of the Democratic National committee. "The dry forces are perhaps better organized in Ohio, their home state, than in any other state in the union yet they could not elect their man in the Democratic primary, even against a late entry."

Haskob admitted that the Smith campaign managers harbored large hopes for Ohio in November and that these had been greatly stimulated by Hunt's vote.

Continuing its drive to line up middle-western farm leaders behind the Smith-Robinson ticket, Democratic headquarters today announced the enlistment of William Hirth, Columbia, Mo., farm publisher and a leader in the fight for the McNary-Haugen bill. Hirth, in a long public statement announcing his support of Smith, described the utterance of Herbert Hoover's acceptance address on agriculture as "a lot of cleverly-put-together bunk—that will not fool the thinking farmers of the country."

"Mr. Hoover has made a desperate effort to soothe the farmers' wrath by a lot of glittering generalities, and those of us who are familiar with his record reaching back to the World War and who know his real attitude toward agriculture, know that this was exactly what he would do."

"Up in Air" William Allen White's cable statement from his European vacation that he had "made no retraction" of any of his blanket charges based upon Governor Smith's record as a member of the New York assembly, left politicians in quandary today as to where White stood.

On July 31, a few days after he made public the detailed record of Smith's votes on the saloon question in the assembly, White issued a statement in which he declared:

"I desire to withdraw the charges formally inscribed as they affect his votes on gambling and vice, but not his position as to the saloon."

Today's addenda, made public by former Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas, national director of Republican campaign publicity, declared:

"In my case against Governor Smith, I have made no retraction. On the prostitution issue I proved my case, got a conviction and suspended sentence. I did this only because I felt that a debate on the subject of harlotry was not worthy of a presidential campaign. But if Governor Smith tries to wise-crack his way out of his record I shall come back at him with the proven evidence."

"The complete photostatic transcript of the Smith record in New York, and I will order it produced if the Democratic candidate acts up."

Primary Night Crowd Stays Until Near Daybreak to Hear Final Returns in Vote

Primary election enthusiasts and candidate fans wended weary footpaths homeward near daybreak this morning following the official announcement of the primary totals by the election board when the last precinct had reported.

Large crowds present at various places in the uptown district where results were given when the returns began to be announced, dwindled but little before a majority of the closest races in the primary had been determined. A large number of the election fans sacrificed sleep to hear the outcome, perched the reports at the Marion Star party, at the election board office and at Markert & Lewis Cigar store.

Occasional shouts of satisfaction and others of disappointment as the favorite candidates scored high or low totals for the precincts, were heard at the Star auditorium during the party, which broke up about 1 o'clock.

The crowd increased at the election board room as the final reports were being received. Many of the candidates for the various nominations were assembled in the group.

A ROMANCE OF GRIPPING HUMAN INTEREST

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO
A WEEK or so later Emily put a new clipping into the Japanese

The Lyall Star printed a picture of a blurred and unflattering like which didn't look much like any-beautifully chiselled lips. Rather than they were in the picture; not being as in the old days. The story said Kent had come home after years at school and abroad. He had passed his bar examinations with honors and expected to open an office in Lyon.

She didn't know after all, she told herself eagerly. He was back—coming here to live—to an office like any young country lawyer, trying to work his way up from Mary who wished to play with the right crowd. Oh, he'd succeed! So brave, so very face! She was enormously proud of him

And she was an ex-actly be next day when the item printed a half page of social suggesting Mr. Kent Rosseter for district attorney.

"What we need," ran the article, "is someone with the courage to defy bow rule in this country. A man of sincere purpose and unquestioned integrity; a crusader. The name of Rosseter always has stood for honor in this community.

"That he is young—barely 25—is no argument against his ability.

"This newspaper, in accordance with its policy of fair play, submits to the voters the name of Kent Rosseter for the office of district attorney at the fall election. A crude piece of writing it was but it might have been done in fire so brilliant did it seem to Emily.

She bought the newspaper at noon and carried it back to the shop, fold ing it so the article was on the outside. And whenever she had an idle moment she would read it, always with a new thrill.

One day, glancing up, she saw a man who sometimes went in Judge Morrow's office standing with a newspaper in his hand. His hat was on the back of his head and he was crowded. She could see the headlines and knew he was reading the editorial about Kent.

Suddenly the man jerked his shoulders and pushed his hat still farther back. She got the impression that he was very angry and wondered if Judge Morrow would mind if Kent was district attorney.

The man dashed up the stairs and she watched him, through the window enter Morrow's office and put the paper on the desk. Another man stepped forward and the three read together.

They talked afterward and she speculated upon what they were saying. Had she heard she would not have understood.

When the first man shook his finger under the Judge's nose he was blustering. "You're back of this, Morrow."

The three eyed each other and the one who had been in the office inquired, more mildly, "What's the dope?"

The first exploded. "Can't you read?"

There was a tiny building at the back of the lot which had been a play-house when the children were small; here the two youngsters kept a mirror and powder and rouge and earrings.

They went here now and Kitten made herself up. She felt very much the lady of the world with ear-drops dangling against her throat and her lips painted scarlet. Of course she couldn't do this at home for it always brought about trouble with Emily.

Presently she took the path up the hill which was not visible from her own home and hurried over to Main st. There she loitered, turning her head as cars passed. One stopped and she so in. A dark face bending toward her, then a long, slender hand touching hers for an instant.

"So you came? Lamb-thing!"

Laughter rippled through her; she cuddled down on the cushions.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affection

BY ADRIAN GARRISON

What Are Marion and Stephen?

Up to?

Where are you people going to be this afternoon just before you take the train? Mr. Underwood asked when we had come downstairs after Emily's inspection of the hotel and were leaving for the afternoon shopping.

"At the Penn Station, Long Island side," his wife returned with a grin. "I mean the last part of call before that."

"At Larry's. We're only going to one other store before, and it's farther up town."

Mr. Underwood consulted his watch and made a mental calculation. "That train leaves at four-thirty. Well be at the Thirty-fourth Street entrance when we had come downstairs after Emily's inspection of the hotel and were leaving for the afternoon shopping."

"I know, and I think I do."

"All right," she agreed, "but if we don't finish we intend to stay at the hotel tonight and finish up tomorrow."

A look of almost boyish disappointment flashed into Mr. Underwood's eyes, but his comment expressed only cheerful assent.

"That would be wise, of course," he said, "but we'll be there with shoes shined 'n' everything at four o'clock."

"I wonder what Harry's up to," Lillian said speculatively as we settled ourselves in a taxi for the shorter journey which she had decided could be managed in the time mapped out for our shopping. "He has something up his sleeve. I know, some surprise of his own."

There was an indulgent tenderness in her voice which I was glad to hear. I welcomed every bit of evidence that she was finding happiness in the return of her recent husband. Then I caught the furtive glance which Marion sent her mother from behind the fashion magazine which she and Mary were sharing, and my ease of mind fled precipitately.

For there was something in that furtive glance and in the knitted eyebrows above it which chilled me because they were so foreign to the usual expression of Lillian's winsome laughter. There was a subtle touch of malice in the glance, also, like that of an angry small boy planning some spiteful revenge. I decided to watch the young girl carefully during the afternoon, and find out if possible what was going on through her mind.

It did not take me long to discover her plan. I happen to know that she prides herself upon being able to make as quick decisions concerning her clothes as does her mother. But this afternoon, nothing suited her. If the size of the suit or frock was right, the color was wrong, the shoes hurt her feet or were too large, and the hats were not becoming. Mary went steadily ahead with her buying, and by three o'clock announced that she had spent all her money except the five dollars which her uncle had told her could be kept for "extra."

"I'll treat you, Marion, to a movie and a special banana split when we get home," she said.

"I guess you'll have to do it right here in the city," Marion replied, and there was a "sneaky" note of triumph in her voice which made me want to shake her. "I haven't a suit or hat or gloves or shoes set for my trip down to the school, and I never can select them in an hour so I guess we'll have to stay in the city tonight."

I had suspected that she had been purposely delaying things so that whatever surprise her stepfather should have prepared at four o'clock would be spoiled by the revelation that the shopping was not completed. The little triumphant note in her voice confirmed my suspicion. I looked involuntarily at Lillian. Had she also discovered her daughter's subterfuge?

We couldn't find Blackie and my grandfather said he saw him go out the door with Blackie, and when my mother came and told me to make a fire in the stove, she looked so I guess we'll have to stay in the city tonight."

I had suspected that she had been purposely delaying things so that whatever surprise her stepfather should have prepared at four o'clock would be spoiled by the revelation that the shopping was not completed. The little triumphant note in her voice confirmed my suspicion. I looked involuntarily at Lillian. Had she also discovered her daughter's subterfuge?

Meditations OF A Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

MAN—AND TEMPTATION

The modern woman dresses like a living picture in order to make herself a temptation to men, according to her latest critics.

Every feminine bathing suit is a key to his senses, and every revealing skirt an invitation to a date.

That all depends on how you look at it. Eve did not succeed in tempting Adam, until she put on a few clothes, and no man is a "temptation" to any woman, until he gets his collar on and covers up his knees.

But the one thing a woman finds it hardest to do, is NOT to tempt a man. Ever since the first woman started it by tempting his appetite with an apple, man has made more fuss about that little bite that Eve took than about the cheerful eagerness with which Adam swallowed all the rest of it.

Why any woman should TRY to tempt a man is a mystery! No matter what a woman does, it is a "temptation" to a man.

When she wore long trailing skirts and lots of petticoats, she tempted him through his imagination. And now that she goes bareheaded and bare backed, she tempts him with her sex appeal and through his eyes.

Even when women wear bustles and tight bodices and hats, they were accused of "tempting" men with those attitudes; and now that they go about with shaved necks and an exposed clavicle, they are still accused of trying to be "tempting."

If a woman uses a lipstick and keeps herself scented and powdered, she tempts a man to kiss her. And if she scorns all the first aid to beauty and goes about in bungalow aprons, she drives him to seek some other woman's kisses.

If she is gay and frivolous and jolly, she tempts him to keep late hours and waste his money at night clubs; and if she is quiet and unconvivial, she drives him "out of the house" to seek his amusements with his cronies or more amusing women.

If she is a good cook, she tempts him to over eat and to court embonpoint; and if she is a delicate wife, she drives him to cultivate dyspepsia in the restaurant.

Oh yes, a man has a thousand more temptations than a woman—because he knows just where to look for them, or where to telephone them, or how to invent them.

But man MUST have his "temptations"—and women will always be supposed to supply them. Even if she should elect to go around in a nose-ring and an Indian blanket, she would still be trying to "tempt" him!
